Classic Play 'Antigone' Finishes Sat.

Tickets are still available for the remaining performances of "Antigone," which is being presented by the BYU drama department this week. Performances will run through Saturday night on the stage of the Smith auditorium. Curtain time each night is 8:15.

Students may obtain tickets by presenting their activity cards at the Smith Information Booth. Townspeople may obtain theirs at the same place or at Heindson's Music Company.

The title role of Antigone and the second female lead, Ismene, have both been double-cast. Joan Gohs and Sharon Buchanan will play Antigone on alternate nights and Dawn Riggs and Jean Partidge Harris will play Ismene.

King Creon will be played by Clyde Kress; his queen, Eurydice, by Martha Mae Warner; and their son, Haemon, by Arthur Dummer.

The story is narrated, between the chorus, by a male chorus, played by Ruel Johnson. Glenda Barnes will have the part of the Nurse. Larry Brown has been given the role of Private Jonas, and Ralph Lundgren will play the Messenger.

The play is directed by Dr. Harold L. Hansen. It is a modern adaptation of the tragedy made famous by Sophocles and other Greek dramatists.

Sister Piano Duo Comes to Provo On Lyceum Series

By popular demand, Joette and Yvette Roman return to Provo to appear in the next Brigham Young University Community Concert series today at 8:15 p.m. in the Provo Talmadge.

The noted piano-duo appeared on the series last summer. They played Victoria de los Angeles originally scheduled to appear on this date.

Monday Forum Panel To Solve Final Examination Problems

Announcement that Monday's forum assembly would be a panel discussion on "How to Study for Final Exams" brought a little less than enthusiastic cheers from the students gathered at last Monday's meeting; but the prospects for something interesting brightened at the planning luncheon.

Dr. Parley A. Christensen, noted for his conversion of a sidewalk into either speech or writing, agreed to treat his subject, "How to Review Notes," not only if permitted to do so satirically. Permission was reluctantly granted by Dr. Harold Glen Clark, who representing the university assembly committee, tried to keep the planning session on a serious note. Dr. Clark's concession was his realization that Dr. Christensen would probably treat his subject satirically whether permission was granted or not.

MODERN ADAPTATION—Greek tragedy "Antigone" will be enacted on Smith stage the rest of the week with Arthur Dummer, Rae Johnson, and Jean Harris in major roles. Curtain time each night is 8:15 p.m. for the play.

Les Brown Tops Attraction List for 1953 Junior Prom

After months of planning and preparation, Junior Prom committee members were pushing through last minute details prior to the big social event Friday and Saturday nights in the Fieldhouse.

Les Brown's band will furnish the music for both nights. Dance time Friday night is from 8 to 12:30, and on Saturday nights will begin at 9:30 and run until midnight. Special dance hours have been arranged, with the time being set at 2 a.m. Friday's dance and 1:30 a.m. for the Saturday affair.

The "Elysian Fantasy" theme prom will carry out Greek thought and art throughout its decorations.

Of special interest to prom-goers is the parking system that has been arranged. Drivers must approach the Fieldhouse from the south on Second East. Cars will be left at the Fieldhouse door, numbered, and then driven to the parking lot across the street. With the installation of a special set of telephones, cars will be brought back to the Fieldhouse as the numbers are called over.

Prom committee members hope that the unusual parking set-up will add to the comfort of dance-goers.

Special intermission entertainment will feature Miss Carol Robinson from Portland, Miss Robinson has been recognized throughout the Northwest for her entertaining dance stylings.

Wally Hunt, from chairman, stated Wednesday that there were still a few tickets available for the prom event. He also reminded the men of the optional styles of dress for this year's prom.

Ancient Mythology Themes Assembly

Even the "Greek gods" will be present at the Junior Prom assembly Friday, according to the prom committee.

The assembly theme will be in accordance with the prom theme, "Elysian Fantasy," and will feature talent from the Y with "classical influence."

Women Students Name Heads Today, Tomorrow; 8 Candidates In Running

Final voting will be held today and Friday for AWS officers for next year. All women students are urged to vote at the booths in the Smith and Science buildings.

Voting in the primary elections last week was light, and AWS officers were hoping for a better representation in the final elections today and tomorrow.

Those who emerged as finalists in the primary voting are the following: president, Beverly Boyack and Marjorie Allen; vice president, Julia Groberg and Nancy Rich; secretary, Marianne Tobols and Betty Hatch; treasurer, Dixie Robinson and Mary Irons.

Miss Boyack is from Seattle, Wash., is a junior, and was co-chairman of the AWS junior council, and has served this year as AWS vice president.

Miss Allen claims Tooele as her home town and is also a junior. She has served on the AWS council and Big Sister program.

Vice president candidate Miss Rich is from Los Angeles and is also a junior. She transferred from the U of L, and has served on the Preference Ball committee and was a member of Orchestras.

Miss Groberg is from Idaho Falls and is a sophomore. She is a YC, a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, and was co-chairman for Hello Week.

Running for secretary is Miss Hatch of Boise, Idaho, who is a junior. Miss Hatch is a Sponsor and was an attendant to the Banquet Ball given last year.

Also aspiring for the position of secretary is Miss Tobols, who hails from Crowley, Wyo., and is a junior. She is a member of the Sponsor Corps, a recent assembly chairman, and served on the Y Day committee.

Miss Irons of Nephi is also a junior. She is on the AWS council, and served on the Christmas project and Preference Ball committee.

Miss Robinson, who is running for treasurer, also is a sophomore from Bountiful. She is a sponsor, has been very active in music, served on the Snow Carnival committee, and as a big sister.

Due to final exams being held next week this will be the last issue of the UNIVERSE. This year's staff, the staff writers have to go to class sometime.

Next issue will come out Tuesday, March 24.

Spring Quarter Registration Set March 23

Registration for spring quarter classes will take place Monday, March 23, in the Fieldhouse, according to Dean Wesley P. Lloyd.

Students in the counseling service have been given registration advisement and some, but not all, of the colleges have done pre-advising.

Dean Lloyd reminds students that if they desire to transfer to any college they must do so before or after registration day. No arrangements for transfer will be made on March 23.

If at all possible, students should call at the treasurer's office in the Masser building before registration day to pay spring quarter fees. This will speed up procedures in the Fieldhouse and lessen the red tape of registration.

The registration schedule follows:

Service Unit Opening March 19th

by Ken Howard
UNIVERSE Staff Writer

The result of construction begun last July will be realized next Thursday when the new service center, latest addition to the Brigham Young University campus, will be thrown open to the public between 9 and 9 p.m.

Opening ceremonies will begin at 4, according to Ben E. Lewis, assistant to the president, Ernest L. Wilkinson. Lewis will be in charge of the reception which is expected to take place and an added feature, one of the General Authorities of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be on hand to deliver a short talk. Following the talk, certainly all of the offices and departments in the building will be open for inspection. One man who will be in charge of the tour will be conducted.

The most outstanding feature of the new service center was probably the bookstore, which occupies space in the basement and on the main floor. Neil McKnight, bookstore manager, indicated that when moved to its new quarters, the bookstore supply center would be one of the most modern and up to date operations of its kind.

All the furniture and fixtures have been designed especially for the BYU Bookstore by Mrs. White, New York designer, and over 60 college bookstores throughout the nation.

Textbooks will be sold on a self-service basis from the basement, where there will be four cash registers to handle customers during rush times. School supplies on the main floor will also be handled through the self-service system.

In addition to the bookstore, the following offices and departments will also be housed in the new building: journalism, student coordinator, housing, placement bureau, purchasing, post office, audio-visual aids, UNIVERSE, Banyan, and extension division.

The completion of the student service center will help alleviate a shortage of office space that has become very acute on the campus over the past few months, and will also bring to an end the old bookstore building.

CAMPUS QUIRKS

Leland Perry, head of Buildings and Grounds, upon reading a letter addressed to the UNIVERSE office to turn off the mid-summer heat in the North building, wrote on the letter: "Down North! We also live in the North building and hope to cure the trouble."

Debate Team Wins Top Honors At Oregon Speech Tournament

Brigham Young University's forensic squad returned to Provo this week after having participated in the "Tournament of Champions," Linfield College, McMinnville, Ore.

For outstanding forensic proficiency, Joyce Gustafson, Yale Ore., won the first place trophy in impromptu speaking, and took second place in extemporaneous speaking (both in upper women's division).

Carolyn Jensen, Tremonton, also captured top laurels when she was awarded the champ's cup for oratory (lower women's division).

Winning second and fourth places, respectively in women's experimental (salesman and ship) were Bonnie Turner, Hillsboro, Ore., and Bertella Swain, American Fork. In addition, Miss Turner placed in the finals of interpretative reading, while Miss Swain was a finalist in the interview event.

School Readies Apartment Opening Spring Quarter

One hundred and twenty Brigham Young University coeds are going to become pioneers in modern cooperative living beginning spring quarter.

The first two of 16 women's units will be ready for occupancy next week. When the last of the 16 apartment units are completed—probably before fall quarter—almost 1000 women will be housed on the northeast corner of the campus.

Each of the two new units contain 10 apartments, with room for six girls in each apartment. One of the units will have an extra apartment for supervisory personnel.

Ben E. Lewis, assistant treasurer, said this week that the Housing office was still accepting applications for space in the new housing. He indicated, however, that women who were already housed in Provo under rental agreements would not be considered for the school's new apartments this year.

The new cooperative housing units are equipped with conveniences that would be found in the most modern home. Two automatic washers, and one dryer, as well as a large amount of line space will put washing on the verge of a pleasure for the college girls.

In the large kitchen, girls will find all-steel cabinets, electric refrigerator and range, and two kitchen tables. The bathroom features a tub as well as separate shower and two wash basins.

Probably the most unique feature of the buildings are the roomy living room-lounges that occupy a central spot on each for the girls, while a large comfortable living room will be inviting to visitors. Two of the 16 cooperative housing units have been virtually completed at the present time. Similar type apartments may be built for men later.

BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSE

ONE FOR HONOR

We'd like to commend the studentbody on completely observing the Honor Code this quarter. We say we'd like to, but unfortunately, we can't!

Though there have been no formal trials or sentences this quarter, we feel sure that the studentbody is not only not 100% violation free but not even 99.44% pure.

Unfortunately, all 6000 of us are not sinless Saints, and a knowledge of human nature tells us that violations have occurred but do not mar the record because of failure on the part of fellow students to report the offenders.

During this final week it would be well to remember that he who fails to report a violation is equally as guilty as the cheater. He is not the crime of commission but one of omission.

The honor system cannot function without the full support of both students and faculty. We feel that the Honor Council has done a magnificent job in educating the students to a full realization of the importance of keeping their own individual conduct bright. We would now like to see the students gain a better understanding of their duty to help their brothers and sisters do the same.

SOUND THINKING

In days past, many attitudes have been developing on campus that indicate the sound thinking that has gone into the ideals and ambitions of the students of this school.

A certain wise man a few years back mentioned that "the letter killeth but the spirit giveth life." This doctrine has good chance of being completely forgotten as we get cluttered up with details and measurements.

However, we wish to propose two compliments, first: to the people who have been thinking seriously of the ideals presented on this campus in student life and have in a usually constructive way voiced their ideas to uphold these ideals; and second: to the men and women of the school for the way in which they have conformed to the "spirit" asked of them by the General Authorities.

By most standards, the Y is far ahead of the majority of schools on the practice of ideals of the church. Many cheers and bouquets to those students who have made formal over, discarded sweaters, and haven't said much about it; for putting up with the recent wave of righteousness.

Another wise country scholar said a few years back, that "To the pure things are pure." We hope this might be thought through carefully in future times. It is certainly the greatest ambition of all concerned to have a standard that is of the highest caliber in our school, but we hope that this attitude will not be carried to the extreme and through this extreme lose sight of our goal.

It takes a very close understanding of the principles involved to come forth with a tolerant attitude when dealing with righteousness, and so may this be our policy in future times. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Biber

the World Today

by Arthur Hardy
UNIVERSE Columnist

Last week, when Joseph Stalin ruler of all the Russians and a few millions of other people, died, a life filled with intrigue, treachery, murder, and immense power came to its end. The death of such an extraordinary man caused world-wide commotion.

In our own country, the press gave an almost unanimous verdict of the life of Joseph Vissarionovich Djugashvili (Stalin was one of the names he used) and revolutionary and later adopted. The dissenting voice among the nation's editorialists came from the Daily Worker, the organ of the American Communist party.

"Humanity has lost the greatest man of our time... Stalin meant that a new era had dawned for mankind, an era of peace, democracy and socialism, an era when mankind was marching to a higher stage of human happiness and freedom... As humanity bids him farewell, his vision of peace, democracy, socialism, and finally communism will grow brighter with generations."

To contend that Stalin did bring "peace, democracy... a higher stage of human happiness and freedom" into the world would be ridiculous. That he did the opposite is self-evident. Everyone knows there is more or less organized turmoil, war and slavery in the world than ever before, and we also know that one single man was pulling the force of oppression. That man was Joseph Stalin.

But the assertion of the Daily Worker that Stalin was "the greatest man of our time" will bear appraisal. He truly was a very extraordinary man. He was undoubtedly the most powerful man that has ever lived, and he stands without a peer in many ways, but does he merit the title of "greatest"? Herbert Morrison said in Parliament that Stalin was "a great man, but not a very good man." This together with a statement by Benjamin Franklin gives a good standard by which to (Continued on page 6)

Hunger Call ...

Dear Editor:

Talk about the Honor System of BYU! I'd like to relate a little incident that happened to me a few days ago.

There are a number of students who bring their lunches to school. It is quite inconvenient for us to carry them around with us, and since there isn't any place we can leave them, other than in the ladies' lounges of the various buildings on campus, I left mine in that designated spot in the Science building while I was attending my religion class. When I came back to get it everything was still there—except the sandwiches! To think that anyone would have the gall to help themselves to part of someone's lunch. By the way, thanks for the apple you left me. It did hit an empty spot.

Unfortunately, I'm not the only one who has had such an experience. A friend of mine, Louise Stowell, has not only lost part of her lunch, but all of it only once, but four times!!!

Please, my little cafeteria companion, the next time you're hungry, wait for me to show up. Ask for a little and I'll gladly share, but don't "just take," the UNIVERSE might get another letter.

We Children ...

Dear Editor:

If university students are treated like children, naturally, they will act like children. We are referring to the fact that takes place in the library on Monday and Wednesday nights.

Proctoring a university study room is at best an indication that the administration does not trust the students to study unguarded, and cannot allow them to exert self-control at their own discretion. We have faith that the majority of the students who come to the library intend to do some serious work. Left alone the students would do their own "proctoring." We have seen this system successfully demonstrated in other universities. However, continual reminders to chronic offenders is advisable.

Being met at the top of the stairs with a "You are disturbing others" sign, and a threat that if you say one word you will be removed from the study area is enough to make anyone rebellious. As we study at the library nearly every evening we observed the on evenings when less severe (and annoying) reminders are used, the study area is much more quiet.

We present this to the studentbody for consideration and comment. Let's show them we're not kids!

Critics Criticized ...

Dear Editor:

Apparently a new critic has been born on the Y campus who has made some rather rash statements. In justice to the great comic opera, "The Bartoreo Bride," we are compelled to disagree with music "critic" Linda Worley's comment on the "Brides" quality.

Although a naturalistic opera, "The Bartoreo Bride" has found universal (if not the UNIVERSE's) approval, having been "received with immense enthusiasm" throughout Europe and enjoying "remarkable success" since its Met debut. It has played to capacity audiences in over 2,000 performances at the National Opera House in Prague. The libretto has been translated into 25 languages, and has been the popular demand to hear this music of Smetana.

Critics of repute such as Salazar, Ner, Baker, Lang, Einstein, Bagan, and Blomfield have sung the praise of this opera: "... the rhythmic firmness of the melodic style, in the wondrousness which combined simplicity and fineness, they also spoke the universally intelligible language of inspiration." "The Bartoreo Bride" will remain one of the most engaging pieces in the repertory of the lyric stage, equally enjoyable in Bohemia and in America." "... a supreme technical composition and a mastery of form."

The undersigned do not set themselves up as recognized critics in the musical world, but they can testify to the general excellence of director Don Earl's production even when contrasted with performances in its native country of Czechoslovakia.

It is unfortunate that director Don Earl failed to consult critic Worley before "mistakenly" choosing "The Bartoreo Bride," relying wholly upon his own judgment and the generous praise of other critics the world over.

Leaving today for Los Angeles are eight Brigham Young University debaters, who will participate in the annual Phi Kappa Delta invitational speech tournament at Pepperdine College Thursday to Saturday.

All students will enter debate and discussion and individual events as follows: Weston Edwards, Provo, oratory, extemporaneous speaking; Bill Skousen, Phoenix, oratory; Gerry Asplund, Lethbridge, Canada, oratory, and interpretation; Colette Green, Lethbridge, oratory, impromptu; Charles Orr, American Fork, extemporaneous speaking.

HIGH SCHOOL B HOOP TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD IN BYU FIELDHOUSE

Brigham Young University's year-old fieldhouse plays host to a state high school basketball tournament for the first time beginning next Wednesday when sixteen high school teams convene here for the Class "B" state tournament.

The pairings for the games are not yet set; as a matter of fact a couple of entrants are still undecided. The following fourteen teams are in for sure: American Fork, Beaver, Cypress, Dixie, Gunnison, Lehi, North Emery, South Sevier, South Summit, Spanish Fork, Springville, Tooele, Union and Wasatch.

The final two positions await playoffs. The third place teams from regions four and five will clash for one spot while Hurricane, Cedar City, Hinkley and Parowan are all getting together this week end to select one of their number to participate in the festivities. A two-night elimination tournament will be conducted. Springville high won the tournament last year and have a good chance of repeating. The boys from the Art City were ranked third among the small school crews by the final poll of the coaches board, released this week. Number 1 team in the poll and tournament favorite if there is such a thing, is Gunnison high school. The boys from region four walked through their regular-season opposition.

Number 2 in the poll and another strong contender is Spanish Fork high. The Deas topped the ratings most of the season. American Fork and Tooele garnered fourth and fifth in the poll. Sixth place Wasatch, will present a high-gear offense sparred by Hartley Lyborge, who averaged almost 19 points per game over the regular season.

Only one team in the top ten—Lincoln, rated ninth—will not be a participant in the tournament. Lehi garnered seventh, Union eighth and Cypress tenth. Lehi's top scorer is Boyd Wathen, while two members of Cypress' fine squad Paul Smith and Gary Jenkins, have averaged over 12 counters per contest.

Final Basketball Stax Reveal Richey, Mateljan Top Cats

Jumpin' Joe Richey, talented American forward, is the 1952-53 scoring champ of the Brigham Young University basketball team, according to statistics released early this week. The pride of St. John's, Ariz., impromptu; Eldon Haug, American Fork, extemporaneous speaking, impromptu; Lerona Nielson, Ogden, extemporaneous speaking, interpretations; and Betty Davis, Ogden, interpretation.

The group will be accompanied by Dr. J. LaVar Peterson, director of forensics. This trip was won through outstanding participation in various forensic meets during fall and winter quarters.

hit a total of 433 points in regular season and another 18 in the NIT for an average of 17.6 per contest. Richey pushed a total of over 1200 points through the ring in his three-year collegiate career.

Runnerup was Nick Mateljan with a respectable 11.0 average in regular season play. Nick had 330 points, 44 more than third place Harold Christensen. Chris, all-conference guard, had a 9.5 average.

Boyd Jarman with 7.0, Dean Larsen with 6.8 and Tom Karren with 3.6 followed.

Richey was tops in both field goals (185) and foul pitches (123), while Mateljan brought the pellet down 282 times to place the team in rebounds.

Most accurate from the field were Dean Larsen with 37 per cent, Richey with 35 per cent, and Mateljan with 35 per cent. Sub John Taylor had 43 per cent, but didn't play enough to grab the title. Richey's 72 per cent and Sherm Crump with a 73 per cent mark led the foul pitchers. Mateljan and Burgess both had 68 per cent and Jarman and Christensen were successful on 63 per cent of their attempts.

judge the life of the world's most successful dictator.

"It is a great mistake to think of being great without goodness, and I pronounce it as certain that there was never yet a truly great man that was not at the same time truly virtuous."

Judged by this standard, Stalin's claim to greatness is indeed an illusion. And to make it more plain the words of Stalin, himself—twisted out of their intended meaning—will help to question his right to greatness.

"I must tell you, comrades, that in all conscience I have not deserved even one half the praise which has been addressed to me. It is said that I am the hero of (the) October (Revolution) and the director of the Communist part of the Soviet Union and the director of the Comintern—some kind of miraculous Hercules and the like. All this is fantasy, comrades, and absolutely unnecessary exaggeration."

To which it may be added: his greatness is an absolutely unnecessary lie.

Cougars Thrashed by Niagara, 82-76

by Reed Hunter
UNIVERSITY Sports Editor

Brigham Young University's dream of a second National Invitational Tourney crown in three years was rather rudely shattered Monday as the Cats fell before Niagara in an overtime thriller.

The score at the end of the contest, which was tied at 35 up at halftime and 67 apiece at the end of the regulation period, was 82-76.

Face Victors

Leading the winner's attack were agile Larry Costello and Charley Hoyle who hit 25 and 23 counts, respectively. Costello, a real hustler, always seemed to be in the right place at the right time. Hoyle was devastating with his rebounding, bringing the sperted down with disgusting regularity. Bo Ennis also turned in a good game for the New Yorkers.

Top man on the floor as far as the Brigs and their faithful were concerned was big Boyd Jarman, playing the last game of his collegiate career. Jarman passed and faked with his usual finesse and managed to hit the hoop for seventeen counters in the process.

And he played only about half as well as Jarman. The Wyoming flash was good enough to attract the interest of Joe Lapchick, coach of the professional New York Knicks, who inquired about him after the game.

Final Bows

Two other Cougars, All-American Joe Richey and Harold Christensen, also took their final bows. Richey topped the Cougar scorers, hitting nine field goals for 38 counters. Joe was handicapped by having three fouls called on him early in the game. The crowd cut his trouble holding on to Costello as the latter's point total indicates. Christensen played his usual good floor game, but was unfortunately a little short on his shooting. He tanked but five points and missed a couple of crucial attempts in the waning seconds of the contest.

Matelaja Hits Fifteen

Nick Matelaja added 15 counters to the Brightmote total—most of them in the first half—and was the only other Cougar to get into the contest.

Actually, the Cougars should have won quite easily, say those in New York Monday night who also saw them play some of their regular-season tilts. The locals were way off their game, especially as far as defense goes. As a rule, the Cats just don't allow their opponents to score 32 points.

Kill the Umpire

The Watermen weren't helped too much by the officiating either, getting 23 fouls—many of them for two shots—called on them while Niagara had less than 15. The winners grabbed 26 counters via the charity stripe while Stan's boys had to content themselves with eight. The Cougars just aren't that rough a ball club.

As far as goals went, the Y men got 31 as compared to 28 for the eastern club. A difference of 12 points from the field, yet the Cats lost—and by half a dozen counters.

Anyway it was a nice trip.

I. M. Open House Set For Monday Evening

The grand gala of intramural sports at Brigham Young University will take place Monday night starting at 7 p. m. in the fieldhouse, with the initiation of the first All-Sports Openhouse.

The event is sponsored by the department of health, physical education and recreation, with Dr. Charles J. Hurt as chairman. Dave Golden states that it will become an annual affair.

Everything from modern dance demonstrations to rope climbing to an intramural All-Stars vs. BYU Fresh basketball game is listed on the program.

A touch of humor will be added with a commando battle game between the BYU football linemen and backs. The backs coached by all-conference star Jay Ballif, will be handicapped by a boxing glove on one hand. The belly-axe-coached linemen will likewise have one hand busy, carrying a balloon.

The finale of a great program will be the intramural All-Stars vs. BYU Fresh basketball game. The crowd-lined club, chosen by the intramural teams, should show a fire-dup game against the Freshmen. Such names bolster the All-Star roster as Stan Glave, varsity Y player last year; Bob Doerr, Wyoming flash from this year's varsity; Pat Pomeroy, Fred Money, and many other all-stars.

Femininity has been included in the program with a modern dance demonstration narrated by Shirley Harte to be staged between halves of the big game.

Special events will start at 7 p. m. Included in the program will be weight lifting, handball, volleyball, badminton, and a free-throw contest. During these events, one of the fieldhouse rooms will be open to the public.

At 7:45 p. m. special exhibitions on the trampoline, on rings, in tumbling and in rope climbing will be presented.

The commando basketball game at 8 p. m. will precede the All-Star game.

BYU Diamond Lineup Listed

The 1953 Brigham Young University baseball team will line up about as follows:

Outfielder: Wayne Boyd, 52. Keystone center, are gone via the graduation route, but either Chuck Mills or Steve Seastrand at short and any one of three men—Wilbur Geddes, Larry Bean and Neil Stophanes—at second should fit in nicely.

The ace catching end of all the back as well as veteran pitcher Earl Lash, who won the most batteries, Durrel Crawford, will earn division play for the Cats last year against Wyoming. Gary Johnson is another pitcher who will be called upon a great deal.

The outfield is very much the same as it was last year with Lavon Satterfield, Stan Glave and Jerry Van Vleet probably getting the nod.

Mick Eggerston will be holding down the hot spot on third and Dad Beagley again will be racking them in.

Other promising hopefuls will be pitchers Dervey Brundage, Morgan Jackson, Gary Wain, Borgholthus, and Tommy Dell. A catcher, Borlo Brown and Lynn Foster, and a first baseman and Gene Taylor at first; John Fought and Merrill Hardy at third; and outfielder Ralph Morgan.

Couch Cronow expressed his desire to get onto the new diamond which is being constructed for the baseballers north of the campus where the orchard used to be. But until then, he said, they'll have to take second best and stay where they now are.

Joe, Dean Honored

BYU's highly-rated basketball club had more awards bagged on its head this week when two of its finest players, Joe Richey and Dean Lusk, were honored by the San Francisco University basketballers on their all-opponent tour.

Richey hit 18 points in the SFU game and impressed with his all-around play. Dean Lusk was voted for topping a fine game with a last-second foul pitch to give the Cougars a 35-25 win.

Watts Winds Up 4th Hoop Year

BYU's highly-ranked hoop mentor, Stan Watts, Monday closed his fourth season as coach of the cougar cage squad.

Watts took over as head in the spring of 1949, replacing Floyd Millet. In the short time since then he has gained a reputation as one of the best informed and capable mentors in the west. The Millet high mentor knows both the fundamentals and technicalities of basketball forwards and backwards and also knows how to teach them to his men.

The soft-spoken hoop tutor has finished his first two and second years in his four years at the Y before an enviable record, to say the least.

Watts was recently honored with a four-year appointment to the NCAA rules committee—a tribute to his knowledge and understanding of the game.

Mural All-Stars Named

The Social League placed five men on the All-Star squad to set the pace. Sevier, Eightballs, Viking, and Rummies each placed two men to lead individual clubs.

The All-stars are: Bob Doerr, Wyoming Club; Stan Glave, Seviars Club; Nelson Cochran, Rockets; Jack Bradbury, Eightballs; Don McIntosh, Taxis; Neil Christensen, Sevier Club; Morry Jackson, Brickers; Keith Strong, Vikings; Keith Price, Rummies; Pat Pomeroy, Vikings; Fred Money, Brickers; Lavon Seastrand, Eightballs; George Bowman, Rummies; Gene Rupp, Torpedoes; and Don Rignin, Pacific Coast Trojans.

Varsity Varieties

Varsity Varieties next week will feature the Delta Psi chorus and Troupe with a special spot light on Howard Raff, Dale Johnson, Dixie Meecham, Colleen Lawrence and the Delta Psi quartet.

Under the direction of the Program Bureau, the curtain will go up on the show at the Paramount Theatre at 8:15 Wednesday night, with promises of some high class entertainment.

Eightballs Cinch Intramural Championship Tourney Berth

The American League's high riding Eightballs clinched a spot in the intramural basketball championship playoff with a 49-36 win over the Social League's Brickers.

Four teams remain in the double elimination tournament after the twelve-team affair started last week. The games have been very close and most of the teams have been well matched.

Brickers' only loss to the Eightballs in the semi-final round set the socialites back into the consolation bracket to play the winner of the Rummie-Brickers game for the right to meet the Eightballs for the crown.

Morry Jackson's 27 points for Brickers' 51-38 victory against Wyoming last night, gave him scoring honors for a single game in the tournament. The Brickers were out in the losers bracket by virtue of a 33-35 Eightball victory in a quarter-final game.

The Social League champs came back to beat Wyoming from the consolation bracket.

The Rummies came through as a strong contender for the crown, but not before unbridled Quorum Rummies scored 'em to death with a 42-30 game. The Rummies were knocked into the consolation bracket by the Brickers 37-31 in the second round of play.

The biggest feather in the Brickers' hats was a 35-29 win over highly-favored Sevier. Mills and Bradbury led the Eightballs against the Brickers 20 and 15 points, respectively. Big Fred Money of the Brigs was tied up and that was the difference between the two teams.

Tomorrow evening the Eightballs' opponent will probably be Sevier, evidenced by the fact that the Brickers-Rummie game, taking place and then the winner vs. Bradbury contest coming off.

DANCE EXPONENTS—Jose Limon, famed dance artist and his company, including ballet and concert performers, will be featured on the lyceum program next Thursday.
